£8%d. Total eales of stock amounted to 201,500 shares, American Sugar leading with 117,000 and Chicago Gas with 25,000. Sugar monopolized the speculative attention on the Stock Exchange, more than half the business having been done in the shares of the Sugar Trust. It was a very exciting day for the operators in this mercurial property, the fluctuations in which were both wide and frequent. The buying was at times very strong and again the seiling was very heavy. A jump of 11/2 was made at the opening and a further advance of 1/2. Then, on brisk selling, a reaction of % took place, but during the selling streak orders were met which absorbed all the offerings and another rise was entered on, which sent the stock up 2, to 106%. This purchasing movement was based on the result of the voting on the amendment offered to the sugar schedule in the Senate, which showed that the anticipated programme was to be carried out. When the top figure was reached a good deal of stock came out, which checked the purchasing movement, inasmuch as it led to the belief that some interest was marketthe belief that some interest was marketing the stock on bull news, and that it was likely that an insider was feeding the shares to the traders. This suspicion induced realizing sales as well as stopped the buying, and a sharp break of 2½ took place to 104½. The lower rate was maintained for a while, when renewed purchases caused a quick recovery, the stock closing within ½ of the highest point touched, and at an advance of 3½ on the day. ed, and at an advance of 314 on the day Sugar preferred rose 1%, to 96, but reacted to 94% on realizing sales. Chicago Gas opened % lower, advanced ¼, and then slumped off 1% on sales to take profits. At the lowest figures there was fair buying, and a rally of % took place, which was maintained to the close. The short interest in this stock is said to have been largely eliminated during the recent upward moveeliminated during the recent upward movement, and it is not, therefore, as quick to recover from a decline as heretofore. The granger group was most active of the rail-way list, but St. Paul and Burlington reway list, but St. Paul and Burlington received most attention, the former being sold by London and the latter, very moderately, however, by Boston. The more important losses of the day are National Cordage preferred and Louisville & New Albany, each 2, and United States Express, 1. Westinghouse assented sold at 724, against 78, the last previous sale. Advances were recorded of 1 in Cotton Oil and 114 in Cotton Oil preferred.

vances were recorded of 1 in Cotton Oil and 1½ in Cotton Oil preferred.

The bond market was easier during the morning, but closed firmer. Alton & Terre Haute additional bonds sold at 70, against 60 on May 6, and Louisville & New Albany consols declined 2 per cent., to 83, and immediately rose to 90.

Government bonds were firm. State bonds were inactive.

Trade Fair, Prices in Most Lines

Steady and Unchanged. In some lines trade is fairly satisfactory, but in others it is becoming very quiet. About dry-goods and millinery establishments and crockery and glassware stores, as well as confectionery houses, such is the case, but this is not unusual in June. Wholesale grocers are doing about as much business as at the corresponding period last year and on nearly the same range of prices. Yesterday there were no important changes. Strawberries were in etter supply and lower than on Monday. Irish potatoes are in active request and strong at quotations. Poultry is in good demand. The provision market is active and prices more steady and firm than at any time in some weeks past. The local grain market yesterday was quiet, attendance on Change ame as on the bids on track much the same as on attendance on 'Change small, and Monday. Wheat showed an advance of \c. Track bids ruled as follows: Wheat-No. 2 red, 51%c; No. 3 red, 47c; rejected, 40@50c; wagon wheat, 52c. Wisconsin Agriculturist.

There are several things which a horse perfect condition. Among them are air, light, exercise, pure water and the right kinds of food. Let him lack for any one of these and he will not long remain at his very best.

During the busy season it sometimes happens that a farmer finds it almost impossible not to overwork his horses a little. This is to be avoided if possible, but, if not, as soon as the opportunity comes pull off their shoes and turn them out for a fortnight's run upon good grass. Keep him comfortable by providing good shelter where he may hide from the sun during the hottest part of the day and supply him with a little grain. If he is at all off his feed be very careful as to the quan-tity of this, increasing it gradually, and getting him back to full grain feed before he returns to work. For farm work it pays to have horses which are naturally good walkers. Per-haps this is more desirable than any other one quality. Those who have never tried it may not know how much more work can be performed by a fast-walking team than by a slow one. Take extra good care of the horses durbears whenever the horse has been used ing the working season. Sponge the shoulders and other points where the harness enough to sweat at all. When at work give them water in the middle of the forenoon and afternoon as well as at feeding

The horses need shade in the pasture in summer, and if there are not convenient trees a rough shed should be built into which they can go to escape the burning sun at midday. If the hornfly comes around or if other flies are troublesome, either keep them in the stable during the day or put on something to keep away the files. Almost any kind of grease will do this, but it will be better if a little carbolic acid is put with it.

Making Hay. Correspondence Farm Journal.

Undoubtedly much of the value of hay is in many instances lost through mismanagement or lack of knowledge in handling it. Experience is a great teacher, if one cares to profit by the lesson. "The method I use is simple and no more expensive than that commonly practiced by the farmers. The grass should be cut down after the dew is off, when convenient to do so, and left in the sun until wilted, but not allowed to bleach; then it should be put into heaps of about one hundred pounds when dry, and nicely trimmed and covered immediately with a water-proof hay cap. (No other cap will have the same effect.) It should be left in this way for several days, according to the state of the weather, and should not be disturbed until dry enough to cart to the barn and mow away. This work may be done in dull weather unless it rains. It may be necessary to shake out to the sun a little next to the ground, so not to mow away any damp locks. When treated this way the farmer will find he owns from 25 to 33 per cent, more weight from the same grass, and its feeding quality will be equal to hay made in the old way, even in best weather, with a reasonable ration of grain thrown in. The waterproof hay caps will pay for themselves more than once every season, and be just as good next time. I have six hundred of these water-proof caps, and I would not do without them if I had to pay three times the price. Of course, this is a larger number than most farmers would need. You can make your own calculations in regard to the savings of this country if this plan could be adopted and carried out. This I call the 'cooking process,' as the sap is nearly all cooked into the hay, instead of being evaporated out and blea hed by the powerful action of the sun."

HOME AND FOREIGN NEWS ASSISTED IN SENDING PRICES UPWARD.

Wheat, Corn and Oats Scored Advances, the Latter Raising 13-4c-Provisions Firmer and Up.

CHICAGO, June 5 .- The frost scare sent prices up in all Board of Trade pits today. Wheat closed 1/4c higher after 1c advance, corn %c higher, oats 1%c higher and provisions at an advance all around.

Wheat was active. Opening trades showed 140%c advance, and the market, after selling down 1/sc, advanced, with little reactions, 1/20%c, eased off 1/20%c, and closed steady. The cooler conditions of the West and fear of a still lower temperature created considerable commotion and shorts covered freely. Cables were a little conflicting, public advices reporting 4d decline in futures, while from private sources an advance was quoted. Shipments from the Baltic and other ports smaller, and exports at New York larger were also factors in helping the advance. There were numbers of buying orders in from the West and scattering from other points, while offerings were not very free. The large decrease in the world's visible supply of Bradstreet of 2,900,000 bushels and the bad Iowa crop report had a stimulating ten-dency, and it was reported there was some buying for foreign account at New York. Corn was very firm and rather excited at times within 1c range and closing near the top. The frost scare was the chief bullish factor.

Oats were strong and excited, prices advancing 1%c, and closing at the top. Bad crop reports and a heavy reduction in contract stocks last week caused the advance.

Provisions advanced all day and closed at the top on the strength in wheat and a scarcity of offerings. The market, however, was narrow. Compared with last night, July pork is 17½c higher, July lard .05c higher and July ribs .07½c higher.
Freights were slow at 1¼@1%c for corn Estimates for Wednesday are: Wheat 60 cars; corn, 270 cars; oats, 130 cars; hogs, 26,000 head. Leading futures ranged as fol-scrub well with a brush until all the grease and dust have been removed. Work the pieces well under the hand until they become supple. It will not do to oil until they become so. Let the parts dry in a place where they will do so slowly, and when just moist oil. For this purpose use cod liver oil. It is the best for the purpose. Besides, if you use neatsfoot the rats and mice are your enemies at once, while they will not touch harness olled with cod liver oil. Give a good dose of oil to all parts. then hang up to dry. When dry rub well with a soft rag. You will have a splendidly offed harness.
